the indwelling realm of "The Eternal Presence..." Effortlessly breathing a cyclical rhythm. Overtaken by Pure Silence. Resting in the In-between: The Liminal space -- holding vigil -- at the threshold between time and timelessness... Awake - in the pre-birth twilight within the Primordial Womb of Being, from which all things are birthed.

As someone who works in the deathcare field, it's prudent we take time to integrate the complexities of this realm--the emotions, the mystery, and the tender grief we witness and carry. This artistic work, Vigil: The Poetry of Presence, provides an invitation to center and reflect. For that, my heart is grateful!

THE OTHER PAPER: South Burlington's Community Online. February 4, 2016. Some books have their way with you. Even before they are written. Such is the case of the slim, dove gray tome titled Vigil: The Poetry of Presence.Author Pamela Heinrich MacPherson, a community advocate for end-of-life care for over three decades, had no intention of writing, let alone publishing, a book of poetry.

Press

The poems were produced from her diary entries accumulated over 30 decades of sitting in vigil with the dying. She was drawn to end-of-life issues while in nursing school in the 60s and eventually would serve as Hospice Volunteer Coordinator for the Visiting Nurse Association of Chittenden and Grand Isle Counties in Vermont between 1988 and 2004.
